

Code Review Policy

All code changes require at least one peer review approval before merging to the main branch. Pull requests should include a description of the change, testing performed, and a link to the relevant ticket. Critical production hotfixes may bypass review with post-hoc sign-off from the engineering lead.